

4 Crash Victims
Still in Hospitals

Three of the four survivors of the auto crash that claimed the life of Rex Looker on April 23 near Wright-Patterson Air Base today were recovering from serious injuries in two hospitals.

The fourth victim, Virgil Boyer, is now at his home here but still handicapped with a fractured ankle. He was released from Memorial Hospital here a few days ago.

Miss Verna Williams, whose most serious injury was a fractured skull, and Mrs. Robert Smith, who received serious face injuries, are in Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton. Both were reported "recovering satisfactorily" and believed out of danger barring unforeseen complications.

Mrs. Richard Pollock is in Mercy Crest Hospital in Springfield where she underwent surgery Wednesday morning for a broken hip. She also has serious head injuries.

All five in the car are residents of Washington C. H. Civilian employees at the air base, they were enroute home at the time of the accident.

Pfc. James Talbott, 23, of Dayton, the driver of the other car involved in the crash, is reported still in the air base hospital recovering from injuries.

Nurses Thank People
For May Day Breakfast

The Fayette County Nurses Association expressed its appreciation to all those organizations today which helped make the May Day Breakfast Tuesday a success. By actual count, 475 were served breakfasts, and there were 535 tickets sold.

The following organizations or individuals were thanked by the nurses for contributing time, effort, funds, equipment, food materials, service or publicity to make the breakfast a success:

Blessed Events

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lewis, 741 Rawlings Street, are the parents of a son born in Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Cooper, 720 Sycamore Street, are the parents of a six pound ten ounce son born Wednesday morning in Memorial Hospital.

A son was born to Pfc and Mrs. William Smith in Memorial Hospital Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Smith resides on the Bloomingburg Road and the baby's father is serving with the armed forces in Korea.

Rotarians Hear
OSU Coach Speak

More than a dozen members of the Washington Rotary Club journeyed to London Tuesday evening to attend the inter-city dinner meeting of the London Rotary Club.

The speaker of the evening was "Woody" Hayes, new football coach at Ohio State University. His talk was far above par and deeply interested his hearers.

He told the crowd which filled the London Methodist Church basement dining room that he wanted the job he had because it was a challenge which he accepted gladly and with enthusiasm.

He made no predictions as to how successful the coming football season would be for Ohio State, but he gave an indication that he was not displeased with the football talent he has under his direction, or with his prospects.

Eber Merry Makers
Discuss Projects

Members of the Eber Merry Makers discussed the projects they plan to undertake this summer with their advisors, Mrs. Marie Fenner and her daughter, Elda, at their last meeting.

The roll call was answered with the name of a fruit as the names were called by Beverly Sprague, the secretary.

Ludene Torbett, the president, conducted the business meeting at which Betty Howard was named new reporter.

The next meeting is to be held at the Eber School May 8. The refreshment committee for the

Problem of Inflation Holding Top Spot

The nation has been given a series of top-flight stories lately—including the Fulbright investigation of shenanigans in the RFC, the Kefauver investigation of big-time gambling with its resulting municipal corruption, the sentencing to death of two Americans who acted as A-bomb informants for the Russians, and the dismissal of General MacArthur and his dramatic return home to defend his position and policies. Such events as these naturally dominate the headlines. But, regardless of the big stories, the American people and their government must keep on dealing with the everyday problems of living in today's complex and difficult world.

Among these problems, inflation still holds a top place. Some people think the present controls are doing as well as can be expected, some think them almost a complete flop. But just about everyone must now realize that prices are not going to return to long-ago levels, that the probabilities are that they will continue to rise, and that the great American dollar isn't what she used to be.

Today's dollar, according to a U. S. News and World Report account, has lost two-thirds of its worth since 1900 and is still slipping. It has lost six cents of its value in the last year alone. To quote the magazine directly, "There is more money in relation to the volume of goods than there ever was. That is what is making money less valuable."

We have all felt the effect of this personally. One nationally known journal recently ran a series of feature stories, dealing with the current financial experiences of actual families in widely varying income brackets. The articles went into full detail as to how much money came in and how it was spent—food, rents and mortgages, clothing, recreation, etc. The incomes ranged from around $50 a week for an industrial worker, to $35,000 a year for an executive. In every case, the families were finding the sledding tough. None were saving anything to speak of, some were drawing on past savings, some were slipping deeper into debt. Their incomes had gone up over recent years—but higher living costs and heavier taxes had more than offset this gain.

It is pointed out to the hard fact that it is next to impossible to establish a sizable estate now—living costs, income taxes, and finally death taxes are responsible for that. And money, even as it buys less, will bring in less return when it is invested. In 1900, an accumulation of $25,000 would return $1,500 when safely invested, and that $1,500 would go a long way. Today a safely invested estate of $25,000 brings in only about $750 a year, and the $750 buys little.

These are facts. As for proposed cures, it would take a thick book to adequately outline them. But the facts alone indicate why more and more people are taking a real interest in inflation and urging that something effective be done about it. And when it comes to that, the great bulk of economists are convinced that the first step lies in drastic changes in the spending credit and taxing policies of the central government.

If Washington controlled inflation by sound financing, as one senator advocates, what would happen to several hundred thousand government workers in control jobs?

There formerly was a nationwide demand for a good five-cent cigar. But that was when life was simple, and the brave, new world had not come into being.

GI Joe Writes to Kremlin Joe

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—An open letter to Joseph Stalin, care of the Kremlin, Moscow:

Dear Mr. Stalin:

As one Joe to another, I am just writing to wish you a happy May Day. This is supposed to be an international holiday for the working man, and us fellows in the Third Squad kind of wonder how you are celebrating it.

You guys in the Kremlin knocking off early today to watch the big parade? And afterward I'll bet you'll be hip-deep in caviar and vodka. Pretty nice, Joe, you got it made. That's the way for a working man to live. You've become the poor man's rich man in Russia.

Too bad you can't be with us here in Korea. We're having a parade also. But it's a noisy parade, and just means more work for us. That's enough to make a guy see red, and boy are we seeing red? Nothing but red—Red Chinese. They organized this May Day parade, and it's one big bloody mess.

It's in your honor, Joe, and in the villages north of us your propaganda agents are busy again pasting up your picture on every house door. The liberated Koreans are cheering for you—at gun point.

This parade is the third one your boys have organized to throw us out of Korea. It's the bloodiest one so far, but much as we hate to mess up your party we don't think the parade is going to get all the way down to Pusan.

We'll give you one thing, Joe. Your parades are hard to break up. But your poor Chinese marchers don't have much choice. They have our guns in front of them—and your guns behind them to keep them from turning and running for home.

Being Reds is no fun for those poor peasants. Red is the color of life, Joe, but for them red is also the color of death. We kill so many of them that sometimes we have to pull back because our guns are too hot to fire anymore.

At your age, Joe, you should be ashamed of playing with puppets. Live puppets at that. Why don't you call off your little puppet show, and play at a big game called peace?

The funny thing about your May Day parade is that the working man in Korea don't like it. They don't want it. And most of them aren't staying to watch your festival. They're leaving their homes to fall back with us. Why? Because they don't believe in either your parades or your promises. They don't think you remember what it is to be an honest working man.

Korea is a lovely land right now, Joe. The wild flowers are coming out in the hills, the rice plants are greening in the wet paddies. But your big Red parade is ruining the land.

Why don't you call it off, Joe? Why don't you give the real working men of the world a break instead of just another empty promise?

You're getting up in years, old man. You don't have much time left. Soon you're going to have to start a final solitary parade of your own—to the God you don't believe in.

You don't want to start that last march alone with your hands still wet with the red life shed by working men you always said you wanted to help, do you?

See you at the parade rest, Joe. It won't be much longer.

The President and the Courts

By George Sokolsky

In going through the material on the curious dollar line case which has been in the courts for about six years and brought to Secretary of Commerce Sawyer a chance of contempt, I found this item:

"Judge Bennett Champ Clark said he was an old friend of the president, but:

"If you have any idea that a letter from the president of the United States has any weight in court, you are very badly mistaken. We have the greatest respect for the office of the president of the United States . . . but he is not a lawyer, and he has no more standing in this court than any other citizen. The president has no right to influence litigation by letter to somebody."

It is curious that the president finds it so difficult to grasp the essentials of our system of government based upon the independence of the three branches of government. Judge Clark is to be congratulated on a courageous statement on the exclusive independence of the judiciary, an attitude which too many of our judges have abandoned in these days of pressures and pressure groups. In fact, a conscientious judge should not even read a letter, not in evidence, in a matter pending before him. Yet, we notice in the press constant references to individuals and associations addressing letters and petitions to judges during litigation. The process is antagonistic to our conceptions of justice.

Our people seem to forget that the president of the United States is an official of limited authority whose rights are proscribed by the constitution.

The writers of the constitution did not want a despotic king. Had they such a view of the presidency, they would have chosen George Washington king for life with an arrangement concerning the succession. But they had had all they wanted of George III, a German who tried to be an Autocrat in England and over her colonies. Therefore, the powers and the tenure of the president were sharply curtailed.

For instance, a federal judge is appointed for life or good behavior. A United States senator has a six-year term. But the president is limited to a four year term and Washington, who possessed an unerring instinct for the future, set the precedent of a limit of two terms, a rule followed diligently until Franklin D. Roosevelt managed to set it aside. (The two-term limitation is now law.)

Granted that the functions of the executive branch of the government that increased since the constitution was written, the structure of our government has in no manner been altered, and it is upon that structure that freedom depends. This is particularly true with regard to the courts. For were they to lose their independence, the executive could indeed become a tyrant.

I have, from time to time, called attention to the peril of the ruthless censorship which the president insists upon in relation to testimony of military personnel, even of high rank. For instance, not even a five-star general, to say nothing of lower ranks, may testify before a congressional committee save with the margins set by the department of defense.

In simple language, none of their testimony may be believed, not even that of General Omar Bradley or General Eisenhower because it is not free testimony. It is circumscribed and limited. What will happen, for instance, in the MacArthur situation, General Wedemeyer, General Ridgway, and others testify as the department of defense does not wish them to testify? Will they all be court-martialed?

The president seems to adopt the attitude that he is the government of the United States. But that is precisely what the constitution seeks to avoid. The president is one of five officers whom Americans elect to federal positions. These five are president, vice president, two United States senators, and one member of the House of Representatives. No American can vote for more than these and in the eyes of the law, they represent equal branches of the authority of government.

By a system of checks and balances, the constitution arranges that no one branch is without a relationship to another. For instance, the president appoints the chief justice of the supreme court; yet that court can declare an act signed by the president unconstitutional and the chief justice presides over the Senate sitting as a court in an impeachment proceeding.

Ours is a system in which no man is all powerful and in which no one man prevails.

Diet and Health Babies and Children Have This Disorder

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Infants and young children are especially subject to attacks of diarrhea. In many cases the upset is due to infection with specific germs, and hence can be treated with one or another of the antibiotic drugs. Just as often, however, the illness seems to occur in the absence of any infection. The problem of handling it is made more difficult and is largely a matter of soothing the digestive tract until food can again be tolerated.

Recently, a number of children with this type of diarrhea were treated with good results by giving them dried bananas. In carrying out the treatment, the doctor placed the children on feedings of one tablespoon of dried banana per pound of body weight for each 24-hour period. Two ounces of water were used to dilute each tablespoon of dried banana. Enough feeding was made up for the whole day and the total amount was divided into nine feedings. Boiled water was given as often as possible between feedings.

In Skimmed Milk

At the end of two or three days, if the infant's condition was improved, the dried banana was given in skimmed milk. Older infants were also given well-cooked cereals, beef broth, mashed vegetables, and custard.

In those instances where the diarrhea was severe before treatment began, the infants were first given fluids by injection under the skin or into a vein to restore normal fluid balance.

Other Method

With the banana treatment it was found that the average time required for a cure was 2.9 days. By the other method of treatment it was 5.02 days. At the end of 72 hours, out of the 20 children treated with the banana preparation, 17 were rated in good condition and three fair. With the other method of treatment, seven children were good, seven fair, and six poor. Sixteen of the 20 children treated with the banana gained weight during the treatment.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—From now on the Truman-MacArthur dispute will be a little less than wide open. The Senate inquiry into the case, starting Thursday, will be held behind closed doors.

The two big Senate committees conducting this inquiry, armed services and foreign relations, will call the chief characters in the drama behind those doors to state their case.

They will include General MacArthur, Secretary of Defense Marshall, Secretary of State Acheson, the joint chiefs of staff and their chairman, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, and anyone else the committee wants to hear.

After each hearing most of what was said in private will be made public in question and answer form. But some of the questions and answers will be scratched out of the copies made public.

The omitted parts will, in the opinion of the senators, involve national security.

In the give-and-take of public hearings information of the most secret nature might be blurted out, perhaps providing the Russians with more knowledge than they could have obtained from a battalion of spies in 10 years.

At least that might happen. Yesterday the senators on the two committees had to decide between public and private hearings. A majority of them voted for the closed-door variety.

Whether this procedure—of telling the public less than everything—will satisfy the public that it has learned the whole story remains to be seen. But certainly this method also makes possible very damaging "leaks."

Leaks are not new in this city where so many people have notoriously been unable to keep their mouths shut. And since some testimony will be withheld, a "leak" can distort the importance of what has been withheld.

Further, not all leaks come out on the day when an event occurred or a word was spoken. What is said today might be leaked next month or six months from now, preceded by waves of rumors on what has really said.

In short, less than fully open hearings may in the end create more unrest than the inquiry was intended to cure. But the senators had to make a choice, keeping national security in mind, and they made it.

It was only a little more than a month ago that private testimony by another distinguished military man, General Eisenhower, was leaked here in Washington. He talked privately to the same two Senate committees.

That was on Feb. 1, after he had returned from a quick survey of Europe's military needs and made a public report to both Houses of Congress, sitting in the congressional library. He then talked to the committees.

On March 10 the leak came on some of what he had said behind closed doors to the senators. For instance, he said use of the atomic bomb against the Russians would depend on whether its military value outweighed its moral disadvantages.

Also, the leak said, he thought 12 American divisions, with sufficient air and sea support, could hold the Breton peninsula of France against any Russian attack. The Russians probably appreciated the information.

The failure of secrets to remain secrets in the Senate was pretty well illustrated in the past few days in the case of the Kefauver crime committee's report.

For weeks the committee had been preparing this report on its

Rotarians Hear Student Panel On "Hot" Topic

Truman vs M'Arthur Issue Discussed by Young Collegians Here

The "Truman vs. MacArthur Issue," a panel discussion by four senior students from Wilmington College, in which, before its conclusion, a dozen club members became involved with questions and comments, provided one of the most spirited programs in many a month for Rotarians and guests at the Country Club, Tuesday noon.

The four students were Frank Adoe of Midland, Paul Abbott, Detroit, Mich., Truman Casson, Franklin, and John Collins, Cincinnati.

These young men who have been studying political science, sociology and allied subjects, proved adept speakers and displayed nerve, poise and good natured ability to debate in presenting one of the touchiest subjects now before the American people.

They indicated that they were thinking for themselves and did not realize what a "hot-bed" of feeling they were getting into here on this particular subject. Before they finished, various Rotarians were shooting startling questions at them which would have made many older people hesitate trying to answer, but sensational investigations of a year. Its a report, which will include recommendations on how to throttle crime, was to be published today.

But last week, before the report was finished, various versions of what the report would say leaked all over Washington.

these young men stood their ground and argued points to the best of their ability, a qualification which was far from immature in their cases.

Difference in Views

Introduced by Paul Dougherty of the May program committee, the first speaker, Adoe, president of the Senior Student Council at Wilmington College, gave his views briefly and then called on another of the group. This plan was followed throughout.

The views on the question were discussed frankly by the four students who disagreed with each other on many points presented. None of them were partisan, each one admitting to having voted for both Republican and Democratic candidates at different elections in the past.

The substance of their views seemed to coincide on one thing, however, the need for more unity among the people and the necessity for the leaders of both major political parties to get together on a "give and take" basis which would not continue to allow the country to play into the hands of Russia.

Unity Above Partisanship

They contended that Truman, Taft and various other leaders in both parties were following a more or less stubborn partisan policy; that the people would have to begin to demand that there be a unity movement which would bring into control men who are thinking about the country first, men who are patriotically conscientious and not interested in party success first.

Truman Casson of the student panel, said he was a veteran of World War II in the Pacific for four years, that he had lost 22 relatives in the two world wars; that his father was a veteran of both former world wars. He stated he disliked MacArthur as a man, but like nearly every other veteran who served under him, believed that he was a great general and a fine military tactician; that he thought, even if removed from military command it was a serious mistake to take MacArthur away from control in Japan where he ranked next to the emperor in the hearts and minds of the Japanese people.

Playing Russia's Game

The threat of Communism was stressed by all four speakers who seemed to agree that in the present nation-wide controversy and in other ways, this country has been playing the game of international politics much to the liking of Russia. "Russia has a master plan which she is following," Collins declared, "while we seem to be doing anything that appears expedient."

At times the discussion went widely afield from the question at issue but in general there was opposition voiced against "fighting a war of attrition" without any particular plan.

The name of General Eisenhower, as compared to General MacArthur, was brought into the discussion. One student remarked that we might have been able to have arrived at a satisfactory bi-partisan foreign policy had Senator Vandenberg lived and remained active.

At the close of the talks the students were warmly thanked by President Himmelsbach and were given a rousing round of applause.

Previous to the main program the outgoing student guest from Washington High School William Strickland, thanked the club for his privilege of attending. The incoming student guest, Floyd Cline, was introduced by Harris Willis.

Birthday greetings were sung for Paul Dougherty.

LONDON, May 2—(AP)—Fleets of the European nations in the North Atlantic Treaty organization will hold combined naval exercises this summer, the admiralty announced today.

CAP Continues Membership Drive

A special meeting of the Civil Air Patrol members, who are planning to form a squadron at Circleville, has been called for Thursday, May 9. The decision to hold the special meeting was decided at a get together in Circleville Monday evening.

Four aircraft enthusiasts from Washington C. H. attended the meeting. They included Loren Riley, Roy Smith, Dick Barker and Truman Dunn.

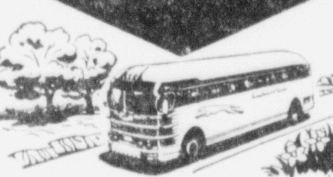

The members decided to hold the emergency meeting on May 9 in order to clear up the final registration of members so that they can be recognized as a CAP squadron. It requires 51 members to make up a squadron, after which they can start training cadets in the different phases of aeronautics.

Before the business meeting, a movie on Pacific Naval operations was shown to the members.

Smith, who will teach basic photography to the cadets, said

April Cooler Than Usual

Regardless of the fact that the mercury reached 83 degrees on the closing days of April, the month was unseasonably cool, with a mean temperature of 38.2 degrees.

Normal for the month is 50.6 degrees, so that the average the past month was 12.4 degrees below normal.

Precipitation for the month also was below normal. The total was 2.73 inches, or 1.17 under the normal, which is 3.90 inches. The mercury ranged all the way from 28 on the 18th to 83 on April 28 and 29, with most of the minimum readings in the thirties.

In fact, 21 days in the month showed a reading either in the thirties or upper twenties.

New Telephone Directory Out

Address Changes and New Numbers Listed

Delivery of the April edition of the telephone directory is now underway and should be completed in the near future, according to Paul Dougherty, manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company office here.

This edition contains all the numbers of subscribers up to March 29.

There are 6,700 directories being distributed now which is 130 more than the last issue.

Dougherty pointed out that all subscribers should go through their old books carefully before discarding them. The reason, he pointed out, is that many persons leave important papers between the pages.

It is also a good idea to transfer all those telephone numbers listed down on the covers of the old book to the new one, Dougherty added.

The eight-page blue civic section will still be in the civic issue, with the map of Washington, C. H. in the center.

In addition to the Washington, C. H. numbers, there are the numbers listed for Bloomingburg, Good Hope, Jeffersonville, Millersburg, New Holland, New Martinsburg and Staunton.

The only major change in the location of the numbers are those of the city offices. They were listed under "City of Washington, C. H." in the old directory, but have been shifted to "Washington, C. H. City of" in the new one.

The next directory will be out sometime during November, and will include the new numbers and address changes from March 4.

Marion Honors Eighth Graders

The last meeting of the 1950-51 school year will be held by the members of the Marion PTA Thursday evening at the school building.

Members of the eighth grade, who will attend school either at Bloomingburg or Washington, C. H. next year, will be the honored guests of the evening.

A program, featuring Dr. Charles M. Pfersick and his show of hypnotism, will be presented for the youngsters.

During the business meeting, officers for the coming year will be elected.

Members of the social committee asked that parents who plan to attend are to furnish either cake or cookies, with the association providing the rest of the refreshments.

The meeting is scheduled to get under way at 8 P. M.

Chief Orders Crackdown on Refuse Haulers

There's entirely too much refuse and garbage being spilled along the streets enroute to the city dump, reports here indicate.

Complaints made by citizens have reached police headquarters, and Chief Vaiden Long has issued orders to pick up all offenders, both truck drivers and push cart owners.

The law specifically provides that when such material is hauled, the bed of the vehicle used must be tight.

It seems that overloading, as well as hauling part loads with no tail gates, has been responsible for scattering refuse and garbage over streets.

Citizens are asked to obtain the license numbers of offenders. In the meantime, the city patrol car will be making extra trips along the path of the haulers.

"Scattering garbage and refuse on the streets has got to stop, and there seems just one way to stop it—by making arrests," Chief Long said.

Fishing Violation

Herman and Thelma Hicks, both of Chillicothe, were fined $25 and costs recently by Justice of Peace P. S. Ludwick for fishing without license in Deer Creek. They were arrested by Irvin J. Patrick, game protector for Fayette County.

Fayette County's Sales Average in Line with State

Fayette County's sales have been keeping step with the general increase in the state during the first part of 1951.

In the state at large during the first quarter, retail sales were 22 percent ahead of the first quarter in 1950, according to the last issue of the Ohio Retail Annalist, published by the Bureau of Business Research at Ohio State University.

March total retail sales were 15 percent above those for the same month last year. Lines which experienced the largest increases were florists (Easter was in April last year), lumber-building materials dealers, and general stores, in the order named.

Overall sales in March showed a 15 percent increase over February, due to considerable gains in most lines with the exception of heating, plumbing and equipment dealers and household appliance stores.

The Bureau's seasonally adjusted index of Ohio retail trade for March was 277 percent of the 1935-1939 average.

In all of the eight largest Ohio cities, sales to date in 1951 show an increase over 1950, ranging from a 34 percent increase in Youngstown to a 16 percent increase in Cincinnati.

Canvas such as that used for circus tents weighs three times as much when wet as when dry.

Granite once was a red-hot mass far below the earth's surface.

Postal Receipts Here Unchanged

Postal receipts at the Washington, C. H. office for the month of April were almost identical to those for April 1950.

Postmaster W. E. Passmore said Wednesday that for the month just ended receipts were $10,004.74. For the same month a year ago the total was $10,067.06.

He pointed out that each of the previous months this year had shown a gain and he predicts a gain for the month of May.

Lions Beat Hillsboro For 4th SCO Victory

The Washington C. H. Lions baseball squad took off in the first inning of their game at Hillsboro Tuesday afternoon and didn't let up till they had a 12 to 2 SCO League victory over the Indians.

Jim Collins starting pitcher for the Indians, ran into a hail of hits in the first inning. The first seven Lions to face him hit safely.

Dale Orihood collected a long four bagger off Collins in that hit-happy first frame, while the Lions pulled into a good seven to zero lead.

Ivan Blair, the Lion winning pitcher, gave up five hits in the four innings he pitched and struck out three.

Orihood relieved him in the bottom of the fifth inning and was nicked for two hits. He fanned four in his three innings on the hill.

Hart came in, in the first inning after Collins got off to a bad start and gave up six safeties in four innings before he was relieved by Wagner in the fifth.

Wagner held the Lions hitless in his three innings and fanned four. Both teams committed four errors each, but the Lions showed improvement in their fielding.

This makes the fourth SCO League victory for the Lions. They have lost two. They won their two non-league games of the season for a total of six wins.

The Lions won from the Indians in their first game here in April, 25 to 0.

Early Wednesday afternoon the Lions went to Columbus to play Marion High School in their first district tournament game.

Reds Nosed Out At Philadelphia

Feller Turns in Season's 3rd Win

By JOE REICHLER
(By The Associated Press)
Ewell Blackwell, who has gotten two triumphs, was gunning for his third win against the Phillies at Philadelphia.

Last night the Reds got going too late in their initial contest against the Phils, and the "Brotherly Love" boys held them off for a 6-5 win.

A five-run rally in the eighth inning made things mighty uncomfortable for Robin Roberts and his merry crew, but the strong-armed youngsters managed to weather it for his third win.

Dick Sisler and Granny Hamner led the home town club, each slugging a two-run homer. The Phils left 14 men stranded, but played spotless ball and bombarded a quartet of Cincinnati pitchers for 12 assorted hits.

With the Phils leading 6-0, the Reds suddenly opened up on Roberts in the eighth. Successive singles by Johnny Pramesa, Roy McMillan and pinch-hitter Bob Scheffing chased home the first Rhinelanders tally. Grady Hatton singled home another, and then Joe Adcock hammered home a three-run blast into the lower deck of the bleachers.

ONE LAST AMBITION--to get another shot at a World Series victory -- is spurring Bob Feller on to what may be one of the greatest seasons of his illustrious career.

Feller, baseball's best righthand pitcher since the days of Walter Johnson and Pete Alexander, is a fixture in the hurlers hall of fame with his strikeout records, two no-hitters and 200 plus victories. The Cleveland righthander has realized all his ambitions--except one. Despite two cracks at it, a World Series triumph thus far has eluded him.

This is the year, avers the erstwhile fireballer. Reaching the twilight of his career, the 32-year-old Feller knows he does not have too much time left.

Pitching with his head as well as his arm, Feller is showing flashes of his former greatness this season. He has made three starts, has gone the route each time and has won all three.

Feller pitched his best game of the campaign last night, whipping the power-packed Boston Red Sox 7-1, with six-hits. Aiming for his sixth 20-game season, and his first since 1947, Bob has surrendered only four runs and 21 hits in 27 innings.

The victory kept the Indians in a first-place tie with Washington. The Senators overcame an 8-3 deficit to outlast the Browns in a 13-inning night affair at St. Louis.

9-8. Mickey Vernon's homer off Cliff Fanning, broke up the game. Mickey Harris, was the winner.

THE ST. LOUIS Cardinals took undisputed possession of first place in the National League, whipping Johnny Sain and the Braves under the Boston lights, 5-2. The Braves managed to hold onto second place when Pittsburgh upset the Dodgers in Brooklyn, 6-2. The Phillies tied the Dodgers for third, shading the Cincinnati Reds in a Philadelphia night game, 6-5. New York's awakening Giants made it two in a row with a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in a Polo Grounds evening encounter.

New York's Yankees stayed close on the heels of the American League leaders, tripping the White Sox in Chicago, 8-3. The cellarite Philadelphia Athletics rallied for eight runs in the 11th inning to route the Tigers in Detroit, 9-1, and end their 10-game losing streak.

The largest crowd of the season, 53,462 fans, saw Larry Doby and Harry (Suitcase) Simpson lead the Indians. Doby batted in three runs with a single and double.

Home runs by Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra helped Vic Raschi gain his third victory for the Yankees. Orestes Minoso, obtained from Cleveland, made his White Sox debut with a two-run homer his first time at bat.

Rookie Lou Limmer's three-run double sparked the Athletics inning uprisings against loser Dizzy Trout and Gene Bearden. Hank Wyse was the winner.

At least, these two old partners in this famous turf classic have a pretty good hand in the 77th Derby. This showed up yesterday in the $10,000 Derby Trial, a one mile race which affords three-year-old horses their final big prep for the main event.

Fanfare, a Calumet Farm Colt which wasn't even considered for the derby less than two weeks ago, pounded down to the wire a driving winner of the Derby Trial. More impressive, thought some observers, was the fast-closing Battle Morn, owned by the Cain Hov Stable and ridden by Arcaro. Battle Morn, running far back as usual, came with a bang to get fourth.

Plain Ben Jones has won five Derbies, more than any other trainer. Banana Nose Eddie Arcaro has ridden four derby winners, more than any jockey.

Although Arcaro piloted three winners for Jones -- Lawrin Whirlaway and Citation--they will be on the other side of the fence Saturday when the bugle calls them to the post at 4:30 P. M. (EST).

The Derby Trial did little to clear up the confusion, for most of the more highly regarded horses skipped the race. Now the verdict goes right down to the grand climax, where Battle Morn, Fanfare, Repetore, Mameluke, Sonic, Big Stretch, Ruhe, and the others will have to put up or shut up.

Dark Horse Wins Derby Trial; Wide Open Race In Prospect

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2--(P)—With a distinct lack of outstanding class in the field for the 1951 Kentucky Derby, it began to appear today as if the $100,000 gallop Saturday night be a scrap between Eddie Arcaro and Ben Jones.

At least, these two old partners in this famous turf classic have a pretty good hand in the 77th Derby. This showed up yesterday in the $10,000 Derby Trial, a one mile race which affords three-year-old horses their final big prep for the main event.

Horses from Here In Money in East

Horses from Fayette County already are making their presence felt on the big time of harness racing this season.

Not many of them have gone from training headquarters at the Fairground here to the races yet, but at least two of them have started taking their share of the purses.

Loa Song, owned by T. B. McCoy of Washington C. H., was second in the $4,000 Fleetwood Pace at Yonkers Raceway on Friday night. Loa Song driven by Billy House was nosed out in the stretch drive by Mac Bingen. Time of the mile was 2:06 4/5.

Jimmy Counsel, also driven by House, and out of Eddie Cobbe stable was the winner of a $1,500 pacing race in 2:08 4/5.

The hurler, Stan Becker, fanned 13 of 21 batters he faced, walked three and hit one.

18 No-Hit Innings Pitched by Youth

ORVILLE, May 2--(P)—An 18-year-old Orville High School senior pitched his 18th inning of no-hit baseball yesterday by shutting out Massillon, 5-0.

The hurler, Stan Becker, fanned 13 of 21 batters he faced, walked three and hit one.

Softball Tourney

hadn't been certain the money would be there."
Lawrence gave four other basic reasons why Washington C. H. was being given top consideration for the state tourney: (1) It is seldom held in this section of the state; (2) Washington C. H. is widely known as a red hot softball town; (3) Good hotel accommodations are available and (4) A good playing field.

Big Crowd Likely
If the tourney is held here, Lawrence said, Washington C. H. can expect to be packed with softball fans from all over the state for four days and nights.

At the state tournament in Zanesville last year, he said, the crowds ran between 6,000 and 8,000 for each game. Zanesville is a bigger city than Washington C. H. and whether the turnouts here would be that large is conjectural.

Lawrence said it was a forgone conclusion that the bleachers at Wilson Field would have to be enlarged if the tournament is played there. That, apparently, was causing him no concern, but he did not suggest how the expansion would be accomplished.

Sixteen teams play in the state tournaments; they are the district champions battling for the state title and the right to play in the national tournament.

Four Days of Play
They play every afternoon and night during the four days of the championship scramble. Rooters and rabid fans always follow their teams, no matter how far they have to go. It is to take care of these fans that hotel and restaurant accommodations are needed.

Lawrence said that neither the time nor the place for the district tournament has been set yet. The only requirement is that it must be played at least a week before the state tournament is held. Lawrence said indications were that it would be held in either Sabina or Springfield.

Lawrence did not bid for the district, "I was after the state tournament," he said, "and didn't want them (the commissioners at the meeting) to get sidetracked."

County champions go to the district tournaments to battle for the right to represent the districts in the state tournament. The county tournaments must be held at least a week before the district tournaments. No date has been set for the Fayette County tourney.

Sport Sued Here
With such a rose outlook, highlighted by the possibility of playing host to the big state tournament, plans for getting the summer night softball program under way here were thrown into high gear.

The start is being delayed until the city Recreation Commission names a director to take over the program. Fred Pierson, the director for the last four years, resigned last spring to manage the Washington Park swimming pool next summer.

Confidence has been expressed by those interested in softball that at least one top flight league of eight teams would be ready to take the field in the near future.

Lawrence said he was counting on Pierson to help run the state tournament if it is held here. The recreation director, however, he is, also probably will have a hand in the tournament management.

Hal Boyle's dispatches telling the GI side of the bitter fighting in the early stages of the Korean campaign have been turned into a television drama. They will be presented as "The Thousand Yard Look" on the Pulitzer Prize Playhouse of ABC-TV a week from Friday night.

Boyle, war correspondent of the Associated Press who won a Pulitzer Prize for his reporting in World War II, will be the narrator. He will tell how "The Thousand Yard Look" developed as the impact of the conflict and tough hill-to-hill fighting began to show on the faces of the men after they realized that their "police action" was not to be of short duration.

Boyle went into the front lines with the media and his dispatches, going outside of the straight battle reports, gave behind-the-scenes reactions of the GIs, their sufferings, their gripes, their futilities and their deaths.

The TV drama follows three of the GIs into battle. The adaptation was made by the Korean campaign have been turned into a television drama. They will be presented as "The Thousand Yard Look" on the Pulitzer Prize Playhouse of ABC-TV a week from Friday night.

Boyle, who started with the AP as an office boy at Kansas City, then left to go to the University of Missouri, has been with the news service since his graduation. When not reporting wars, he writes "Boyle's Column," about humanity in general.

Repair Program Will Be Rushed In This County

State Highway Dept.
Makes Inspection
Following Accidents

In a statement issued by Division Six, of the Ohio Department of Highways, special attention is called to what the department is doing to bring about prompt road repairs, especially with reference to Fayette County, which is a part of this division.

It is reported that following recent accidents in this territory prompt inspection was made, particularly on Route 70 in this county.

The statement forwarded by the public relations department of the division, with headquarters at Delaware, says:

"State Highway Department crews are working at top speed to effect repairs on Fayette County Roads, according to E. L. Shiley, division engineer, division six, state highway department. Shiley pointed out that all broken highway surfaces have been given temporary repair following the severe winter; warning signs have been posted at points of greatest damage, and a program of permanent repair is now being rushed to completion.

"Two recent accidents on Route 70, the South Solon-Jeffersonville highway, have drawn public attention to the severe damage sustained by this road.

"The most recent of these accidents has been investigated by the highway department. An inspection party has confirmed that this road had been given extensive temporary repairs; loose gravel has been dug out, and holes packed with stone and smoothed to permit traffic to move. The stretch of road between South Solon and Jeffersonville had been clearly posted with 'frost damage' signs several months ago, and these signs have been illuminated by torches at night.

"While it is true that wear and weather cause these temporary patches to loosen and new holes to form, it is clear that every effort has been made to keep this road, and all damaged roads in Fayette County safe and passable. Shiley emphasized that damaged roads under repair, must be travelled with special caution and at reduced speeds.

"Permanent repairs to the South Solon-Jeffersonville highway will be completed in the near future, Shiley said. Contracts will be let within two weeks for black top and drag-patch repairs designed to restore the road to full service."

Nation Needs Feed Grains, Silcott Says

The nation needs more feed grains, Fayette County farmers are asked to increase their corn acreage 10% to help obtain needed increases. Continued high production of meat, poultry and dairy products depends on feed production increases, according to Harry Silcott, chairman of the Fayette County PMA committee.

Levy Store Winds Up Remodeling

Levy's Clothing Store here has issued an invitation to the general public to come in the store anytime during the next 15 days to inspect the establishment, on which an extensive remodeling program has recently been completed.

A concrete block addition has been erected on the rear of the store, located at 147 East Court Street. It is used for the receiving and storing of merchandise.

During the "open house" or Spring Fair, which the store is celebrating, residents here will have an opportunity to inspect the new and complete shoe store and sportswear department for men.

Paul Lipschutz, owner, A. F. Braun, manager, and Harry Buchanan, salesman, invite the public to come in and inspect the recently renovated store.

Street Striping Gets Under Way

Work of striping the city streets in the uptown area got underway Wednesday.

Street Superintendent Clyde Smith put a striping crew at work on Market Street, starting at North Street and moving westward.

Smith said that as the weather permits the work of restriping all of the uptown streets will be pushed until the task is completed.

A great many of the parking lines have been all but obliterated during the many months since the paint was applied.

Mrs. Donna Gray Services Saturday

The ashes of Mrs. Donna Hidy Gray are to be buried in the Hidy Cemetery near Jeffersonville Saturday at 2 P. M. with Christian Science committal services conducted by Mrs. Freda Brown.

Mrs. Gray was a native of Fayette County and went to school in Washington C. H. She was the daughter of the late J. H. and Mrs. Joseph Hidy. She lived here for many years and at one time was connected with the old Frank L. Stutson Store. She leaves many friends here.

Details of her illness and death were obscure in the brief messages received by old friends here from her son, William R. Gray, of Mentor.

During her later life she spent much time in Cleveland and in California where another son lives.

Officers Searching For Missing Man

Officers are still on the lookout for Walter McClain, of Mt. Joy, (Scioto County), at whose home a large amount of stolen property has been recovered during the past few days.

McClain vanished when he learned officers were looking for him in connection with widespread thefts of farm property.

He was connected with the ring in which Elmer (Ace) Rice of Sinking Springs was involved, officers state.

Rice is still being held here on three charges.

Jeff Ball Team Plays Thursday In Tournament

Baseball fans at Jeffersonville today were getting ready to follow their high school's team to Athens for the southeastern district tournament Thursday, a day earlier than they had expected.

Coach Clyde Helsing said the Fayette County champions had been scheduled originally to play on Friday, but when the notice of the drawings for opponents came in Wednesday the Tigers were booked to play the Ames-Bern outfit at 1 P. M. Thursday.

A big delegation of Jeffersonvillians was reported to have made plans to accompany the team.

So loyal are the people of the community that the PTA agreed to contribute $50 toward the team's expenses if it is needed.

Helsing was not too optimistic. He said he had counted on last Monday's game with Frankfort to get the team on edge for the tournament, but the game was balked by rain.

Two New Members Join Clockwise Girls

Two new members, Glenda Gilmore and Wanda Lou Pollard, were taken into the Clockwise Girls 4-H Club at the meeting held at the home of Nancy Moss-barger.

After the roll call and a discussion of ways to win prizes with their project exhibits, the girls named Wanda Lou the news reporter.

Refreshments closed the meeting and the rest of the evening was spent in recreation.

The next meeting is to be May 18 at the home of Marquella Smith.

Diamond engagement rings were used in the Middle Ages.
